Understanding the environment within which the business has to operate is very important for running a business unit successfully at any place. Because, the environmental factors influence almost every aspect of business, be it its nature, its location, the prices of products, the distribution system, or the personnel policies. Hence it is important to learn about the various components of the business environment, which consists of the economic aspect, the socio-cultural aspects, the political framework, the legal aspects and the technological aspects etc. In this chapter, we shall learn about the concept of business environment, its nature and significance and the various components of the environment. In addition, we shall also acquaint ourselves with the concept of social responsibility of business and business ethics.

OBJECTIVES

After studying this lesson, you will be able to:

- explain the meaning of business environment;
- identify the features of business environment;
- describe the importance and types of business environment;
- describe the recent developments in Indian Economy that have greatly influenced the working of business units in India;
- explain the concept of social responsibility of business;
- state the social responsibility of business towards different interest groups; and
- explain the concept of business ethics.

3.1 Meaning of Business Environment

As stated earlier, the success of every business depends on adapting itself to the environment within which it functions. For example, when there is a change in the government polices, the business has to make the necessary changes to adapt itself to the new policies. Similarly, a change in the technology may render the existing products obsolete, as we have seen that the introduction of computer has replaced the typewriters; the colour television has made the black and white television out of fashion. Again a change in the fashion or customers’ taste may shift the demand in the market for a particular product, e.g., the demand for jeans reduced the sale of other traditional wear. All these aspects are external factors that are beyond the control of the business. So the business units must have to adapt themselves to these changes in order to survive and succeed in business. Hence, it is very necessary to have a clear understanding of the concept of business environment and the nature of its various components.

The term ‘business environment’ connotes external forces, factors and institutions that are beyond the control of the business and they affect the functioning of a business enterprise. These include customers, competitors, suppliers, government, and the social, political, legal and technological factors etc. While some of these factors or forces may have direct influence over the business firm, others may operate indirectly. Thus, business environment may be defined as the total surroundings, which have a direct or indirect bearing on the functioning of business. It may also be defined as the set of external factors, such as economic factors, social factors, political and legal factors, demographic factors, technical factors etc., which are uncontrollable in nature and affects the business decisions of a firm.

3.1.1 Features of Business Environment

On the basis of the above discussion the features of business environment can be summarised as follows.

(a) Business environment is the sum total of all factors external to the business firm and that greatly influence their functioning.

(b) It covers factors and forces like customers, competitors, suppliers, government, and the social, cultural, political, technological and legal conditions.
The business environment is dynamic in nature, that means, it keeps on changing.

The changes in business environment are unpredictable. It is very difficult to predict the exact nature of future happenings and the changes in economic and social environment.

Business Environment differs from place to place, region to region and country to country. Political conditions in India differ from those in Pakistan. Taste and values cherished by people in India and China vary considerably.

3.1.2 IMPORTANCE OF BUSINESS ENVIRONMENT

There is a close and continuous interaction between the business and its environment. This interaction helps in strengthening the business firm and using its resources more effectively. As stated above, the business environment is multifaceted, complex, and dynamic in nature and has a far-reaching impact on the survival and growth of the business. To be more specific, proper understanding of the social, political, legal and economic environment helps the business in the following ways:

- Determining Opportunities and Threats: The interaction between the business and its environment would identify opportunities for and threats to the business. It helps the business enterprises for meeting the challenges successfully.

- Giving Direction for Growth: The interaction with the environment leads to opening up new frontiers of growth for the business firms. It enables the business to identify the areas for growth and expansion of their activities.

- Continuous Learning: Environmental analysis makes the task of managers easier in dealing with business challenges. The managers are motivated to continuously update their knowledge, understanding and skills to meet the predicted changes in realm of business.

- Image Building: Environmental understanding helps the business organisations in improving their image by showing their sensitivity to the environment within which they are working. For example, in view of the shortage of power, many companies have set up Captive Power Plants (CPP) in their factories to meet their own requirement of power.

- Meeting Competition: It helps the firms to analyse the competitors’ strategies and formulate their own strategies accordingly.

- Identifying Firm’s Strength and Weakness: Business environment helps to identify the individual strengths and weaknesses in view of the technological and global developments.

INTEXT QUESTIONS 3A

1. Define the term Business Environment in your own words.

______________________________________________________________

2. Rectify the following sentences if found incorrect.
   (a) The business environment is static in nature.

   (b) Business environment includes factors external as well as internal to business firm.

   (c) The changes in business environment are quite predictable.

   (d) Business environment helps the firm to identify the opportunities for the business.

3.2 TYPES OF BUSINESS ENVIRONMENT

Confining business environment to uncontrollable external factors, it may be classified as (a) Economic environment; and (b) Non-economic environment. The economic environment includes economic conditions, economic policies and economic system of the country.
Non-economic environment comprises social, political, legal, technological, demographic and natural environment. All these have a bearing on the strategies adopted by the firms and any change in these areas is likely to have a far-reaching impact on their operations.
Let us have a brief idea about each of these areas of business environment.

3.2.1 ECONOMIC ENVIRONMENT

The survival and success of each and every business enterprise depend fully on its economic environment. The main factors that affect the economic environment are:

(a) Economic Conditions: The economic conditions of a nation refer to a set of economic factors that have great influence on business organisations and their operations. These include gross domestic product, per capita income, markets for goods and services, availability of capital, foreign exchange reserve, growth of foreign trade, strength of capital market etc. All these help in improving the pace of economic growth.

(b) Economic Policies: All business activities and operations are directly influenced by the economic policies framed by the government from time to time. Some of the important economic policies are:

    (i) Industrial policy
    (ii) Fiscal policy
    (iii) Monetary policy
    (iv) Foreign investment policy
    (v) Export–Import policy (Exim policy)
The government keeps on changing these policies from time to time in view of the developments taking place in the economic scenario, political expediency and the changing requirement. Every business firm has to function strictly within the policy framework and respond to the changes therein.

Important Economic Policies

(i) Industrial policy: The Industrial policy of the government covers all those principles, policies, rules, regulations and procedures, which direct and control the industrial enterprises of the country and shape the pattern of industrial development.

(ii) Fiscal policy: It includes government policy in respect of public expenditure, taxation and public debt.

(iii) Monetary policy: It includes all those activities and interventions that aim at smooth supply of credit to the business and a boost to trade and industry.

(iv) Foreign investment policy: This policy aims at regulating the inflow of foreign investment in various sectors for speeding up industrial development and take advantage of the modern technology.

(v) Export–Import policy (Exim policy): It aims at increasing exports and bridge the gap between export and import. Through this policy, the government announces various duties/levies. The focus now-a-days lies on removing barriers and controls and lowering the custom duties.

(c) Economic System: The world economy is primarily governed by three types of economic systems, viz., (i) Capitalist economy; (ii) Socialist economy; and (iii) Mixed economy. India has adopted the mixed economy system which implies co-existence of public sector and private sector.

3.2.2 Non-economic Environment

The various elements of non-economic environment are as follow:

(a) Social Environment

The social environment of business includes social factors like customs, traditions, values, beliefs, poverty, literacy, life expectancy rate etc. The social structure and the values that a society cherishes have a considerable influence on the functioning of business firms. For example, during festive seasons there is an increase in the demand for new clothes, sweets, fruits, flower, etc. Due to increase in literacy rate the consumers are becoming more conscious of the quality of the products. Due to change in family composition, more nuclear families with single child concepts have come up. This increases the demand for the different types of household goods. It may be noted that the consumption patterns, the dressing and living styles of people belonging to different social structures and culture vary significantly.
(b) Political Environment

This includes the political system, the government policies and attitude towards the business community and the unionism. All these aspects have a bearing on the strategies adopted by the business firms. The stability of the government also influences business and related activities to a great extent. It sends a signal of strength, confidence to various interest groups and investors. Further, ideology of the political party also influences the business organisation and its operations. You may be aware that Coca-Cola, a cold drink widely used even now, had to wind up operations in India in late seventies. Again the trade union activities also influence the operation of business enterprises. Most of the labour unions in India are affiliated to various political parties. Strikes, lockouts and labour disputes etc. also adversely affect the business operations. However, with the competitive business environment, trade unions are now showing great maturity and started contributing positively to the success of the business organisation and its operations through workers participation in management.

(c) Legal Environment

This refers to set of laws, regulations, which influence the business organisations and their operations. Every business organisation has to obey, and work within the framework of the law. The important legislations that concern the business enterprises include:

(i) Companies Act, 1956
(ii) Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999
(iii) The Factories Act, 1948
(iv) Industrial Disputes Act, 1972
(v) Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972
(vi) Industries (Development and Regulation) Act, 1951
(vii) Prevention of Food Adulteration Act, 1954
(viii) Essential Commodities Act, 2002
(ix) The Standards of Weights and Measures Act, 1956
(x) Monopolies and Restrictive Trade Practices Act, 1969
(xi) Trade Marks Act, 1999
(xii) Bureau of Indian Standards Act, 1986
(xiii) Consumer Protection Act, 1986
(xiv) Environment Protection Act
(xv) Competition Act, 2002

Besides, the above legislations, the following are also form part of the legal environment of business.
(i) Provisions of the Constitution: The provisions of the Articles of the Indian Constitution, particularly directive principles, rights and duties of citizens, legislative powers of the central and state government also influence the operation of business enterprises.

(ii) Judicial Decisions: The judiciary has to ensure that the legislature and the government function in the interest of the public and act within the boundaries of the constitution. The various judgments given by the court in different matters relating to trade and industry also influence the business activities.

(d) Technological Environment

Technological environment include the methods, techniques and approaches adopted for production of goods and services and its distribution. The varying technological environments of different countries affect the designing of products. For example, in USA and many other countries electrical appliances are designed for 110 volts. But when these are made for India, they have to be of 220 volts. In the modern competitive age, the pace of technological changes is very fast. Hence, in order to survive and grow in the market, a business has to adopt the technological changes from time to time. It may be noted that scientific research for improvement and innovation in products and services is a regular activity in most of the big industrial organisations. Now a days infact, no firm can afford to persist with the outdated technologies.

(e) Demographic Environment

This refers to the size, density, distribution and growth rate of population. All these factors have a direct bearing on the demand for various goods and services. For example a country where population rate is high and children constitute a large section of population, then there is more demand for baby products. Similarly the demand of the people of cities and towns are different than the people of rural areas. The high rise of population indicates the easy availability of labour. These encourage the business enterprises to use labour intensive techniques of production. Moreover, availability of skill labour in certain areas motivates the firms to set up their units in such area. For example, the business units from America, Canada, Australia, Germany, UK, are coming to India due to easy availability of skilled manpower. Thus, a firm that keeps a watch on the changes on the demographic front and reads them accurately will find opportunities knocking at its doorsteps.

(f) Natural Environment

The natural environment includes geographical and ecological factors that influence the business operations. These factors include the availability of natural resources, weather and climatic condition, location aspect, topographical factors, etc. Business is greatly influenced by the nature of natural environment. For example, sugar factories are set up only at those places where sugarcane can be grown. It is always considered better to establish manufacturing unit near the sources of input. Further, government’s policies to maintain ecological balance, conservation of natural resources etc. put additional responsibility on the business sector.

2. Identify the types of non-economic environment in the following cases:

   (a) Demand for new clothes increases during festive session.

   (b) Computer has outdated typewriter.

   (c) Coca-Cola is now being freely sold in the Indian market.

   (d) Sugar factories are being set up where sugarcane is grown abundantly.

   (e) Availability of skilled labour in a particular region.

3.3 Recent Developments in Indian Economy

The economic environment of business in India has been changing at a fast rate mainly due to the changes in the economic policies of the government. At the time of independence, the Indian economy was basically agrarian with a weak industrial base. To speed up the industrial growth and solve various economic problems, the government took several steps like state ownership on certain categories of industries, economic planning, reduced role of private sector, etc. The Government adopted several control measures on the functioning of private sector enterprises. All these efforts resulted a mixed response. There was growth in net national product, per capita income and development of capital goods sector and infrastructure. But rate of industrial growth was slow, inflation increased and government faced a serious foreign exchange crisis during eighties. As a result, the government of India introduced a radical change in economic policies in 1991. This policy abolished industrial licensing in most of the cases, allowed private participation in most industries, disinvestment was carried out in many public sector industrial enterprises and opened up the economy considerably. Foreign Investment Promotion Board was set up to channelise foreign capital investment in India. Let us discuss the developments under three heads, viz., (a) Liberalisation, (b) Privatisation, and (c) Globalisation.

(A) Liberalisation

Liberalisation refers to the process of eliminating unnecessary controls and restrictions on the smooth functioning of business enterprises. It includes:

(i) abolishing industrial licensing requirement in most of the industries;

(ii) freedom in deciding the scale of business activities;
(iii) freedom in fixing prices of goods and services;
(iv) simplifying the procedure for imports and exports;
(v) reduction in tax rates; and
(vi) simplified policies to attract foreign capital and technology to India.

Through this liberalisation process, Indian Economy has opened up and started interacting with the world in a big way. This has resulted in easy entry of foreign business organisations in India. This has further resulted in stiff competition and efficiency. Ultimately, liberalisation has helped us in achieving a high growth rate, easy availability of goods at competitive rates, a healthy and flourishing stock market, high foreign exchange reserve, low inflation rate, strong rupee, good industrial relations, etc.

B) PRIVATISATION

Privatisation refers to reducing the role of public sector by involving the private sectors in most activities. Due to the policy reforms announced in 1991, the expansion of public sector has literally come to a halt and the private sector registered fast growth in the post-liberalised period. The issues of privatisation include:

(i) reduction in the number of industries reserved for the public sector from 17 to 8 (reduced further to 3 later on) and the introduction of selective competition in the reserved area;

(ii) disinvestment of shares of selected public sector industrial enterprises in order to raise resources and to encourage wider participation of general public and workers in the ownership in business;

(iii) improvement in performance through an MOU system by which managements are to be granted greater autonomy but held accountable for specified results.

In India, as a result of these steps, the post liberalisation phase has witnessed a massive expansion of the private sector business in India. You can have an idea of their expansion from the fact that the total capital employed in top 500 private sector companies rose from Rs. 1,39,806 crores in 1992-93 to Rs. 2,34,751 crores in 1994-95 (an expansion of 68% in just two years).

C) GLOBALISATION

Globalisation means ‘integrating’ the economy of a country with the world economy. This implies free flow of goods and services, capital, technology and labour across national boundaries. To achieve these objectives of globalisation, the government has adopted various measures such as reduction in custom duties, removal of quantitative restrictions or quotas on exports and imports, facilitating foreign investment and encouragement of foreign technology. These measures are expected to achieve a higher rate of growth, enlargement of employment potential, and reduction of regional disparities.
1. What is meant by Globalisation?

2. Write ‘L’ for Liberalisation, ‘P’ for Privatisation and ‘G’ for Globalisation.
   (a) Freedom in fixing prices of goods and services.
   (b) Disinvestment of shares of public sector industrial enterprises.
   (c) Reduction in sales tax rates.
   (d) Reduction in custom duties.
   (e) Reduction in number of industries reserved for public sector.

3.4 Social Responsibility of Business

Every business enterprise is an integral part of the society. It uses the scarce resources of the society to continue and grow. Hence, it is important that no activity of business is injurious to the long run interests of the society. However, it is observed that, in practice, there are a few socially undesirable aspects of business such as, polluting the environment, non-payment of taxes, manufacturing and selling adulterated products, giving misleading advertisement and so on. This has resulted in the development of the concept of social responsibility of business whereby the owners and managers of business are made conscious about the responsibilities of their business towards the community and its customers, workers etc.

3.4.1 Meaning of Social Responsibility

Social responsibility of business refers to the obligation of business enterprises to adopt policies and plans of actions that are desirable in terms of the expectation, values and interest of the society. It ensures that the interests of different groups of the public are not adversely affected by the decisions and policies of the business.

3.4.2 Social Responsibilities Towards Different Groups

It needs to be noted that the responsibilities of those who manage the business cannot be limited to the owners. They have to take into account the expectations of other stakeholders like the workers, the consumers, the government and the community and public at large. Let us now look at the responsibilities of the business towards all these groups.

(a) Responsibility towards the shareholders or owners: The shareholders or owners are those who invest their money in the business. They should be provided with a fair return on their investment. You know that in case of companies it takes the form... dividends. It has to be ensured that the rate of dividend is commensurable with the risk involved and the earnings made. Besides dividends, the shareholders also expect an appreciation in the value of shares. This is governed primarily by company’s performance.

(b) Responsibility towards the Employees: A business enterprise must ensure a fair wage or salary to the workers based on the nature of work involved and the prevailing rates in the market. The working conditions must be good in respect of safety, medical facilities, canteen, housing, leave and retirement benefits etc. They should also be paid reasonable amount of bonus based on the business earnings. Preferably, there should also be a provision for their participation in management.

(c) Responsibility towards the Consumers: A business enterprise must supply quality goods and services to the consumers at reasonable prices. It should avoid adulteration, poor packaging, misleading and dishonest advertising, and ensure proper arrangement for attending to customer complaints and grievances.

(d) Responsibility towards the Government: A business enterprise must follow the guidelines of the government while setting up the business. It should conduct the business in lawful manner, pay the taxes honestly and on time. It should not indulge in any corrupt practices or unlawful activities.

(e) Responsibility towards the Community: Every business is a part and parcel of our community. So it should contribute towards the general welfare of the community. It should preserve and promote social and cultural values, generate employment opportunity and contribute towards the upliftment of weaker sections of the society. It must take every step to protect the physical and ecological environment of the society. It should contribute to the community development programmes like public health care, sports, cultural programmes.

Looking at the importance of the social responsibilities of business towards various groups, it would have been better if the companies act provided for the reporting of the social activity in the annual report of the companies. However, a few large companies have been voluntarily reporting their social performances in their Annual Reports regularly. The prominent among them are Cement Corporation of India, Indian Oil Corporation, Tata Iron and Steel Company, Asian paints and ITC. These reports reveal that companies are becoming eco-friendly and conscious of their role in community development.

Social Responsibility undertaken as reported by some companies

Larsen and Toubro Ltd. (L&T)

L & T addresses social issues of health and environment with the same professional vigour that it adopts for business issues. L & T believes in the merits of detailed analysis, planning, implementation and evaluation of results. Broadly, its corporate social responsibility covers health, safety, environment and education, surrounding its establishments.
Oil and Natural Gas Corporation Ltd. (ONGC)

ONGC as a responsible corporate citizen is focused on promotion of vocational education, health care and entrepreneurship in the community coupled with initiatives in water management and disaster relief in the country. In recognition of these initiatives, the world council of corporate governance conferred the Golden Peacock Award to ONGC for ‘Corporate Social Responsibility in Emerging Economies-2006’ at the 7th International Conference on Corporate Governance held in May 2006 in London.

Reliance Industries Ltd. (RIL)

Towards community assistance and social development, RIL provides financial as well as administrative support for supplying drinking water to villages in the vicinity of its manufacturing site and also established primary health centers. RIL also helps local school children through distribution of books annually and offers financial assistance to the cultural functions of the villagers, and organises medical camps and sports events.

Grasim Industries Ltd. (GIL)

Grasim’s social projects in India’s hinterland are carried out under the aegis of the Aditya Birla Centre for community initiatives and Rural Development. Its work is based on the felt needs of the communities. Its social vision is to make a qualitative difference to the lives of the weaker sections of the society in proximity to its plants and improve the human development index of the nation. During the year 2005-06 it reached out to nearly 6 lakh persons and provided services like health care, child care, education, mass marriage programme, infrastructure development, etc. In these humanitarian endeavors, the company partners with the government, district authorities, village panchayats and other like minded NGO’s.

3.5 Business Ethics

The word ‘Ethics’ originated from the Greek word ‘ethos’ meaning character, conduct and activities of the people based on moral principles. It is concerned with what is right and what is wrong in human behaviour on the basis of standard behaviour or conduct accepted by the society. Honesty, truthfulness, compassion, sympathy, feeling of brotherhood etc. are considered ethical.

Similarly, ethics from business point of view or business ethics are the moral principles, which guide the behaviour of businessmen or business activities in relation to the society. It provides certain code of conduct to carry on the business in a morally justified manner. Running the business without adopting unfair practices, being honest and truthful about quality of goods, charging fair prices, abiding to laws, paying taxes, duties and fees to the government honestly are some of the ethical behaviour of business.

Satish belongs to a rural area. Once he had gone to the nearest town. He saw there a very big and well maintained park. Inside the park he read a small board - ‘This Park is maintained by KCS Ltd’. He tried to recall where did he read this name before? He remembered that the charitable hospital of his village was also run by KCS Ltd. He was filled with curiosity. He decided to find out more about all this. One day he met his friend’s father. Mr. K. Mohan.

Satish : Good Morning Uncle.

K. Mohan : Good Morning Satish? How are you?

Satish : Very fine! How about you?

K. Mohan : Great! What brings you here son?

Satish : Uncle, if I remember rightly you are in a company called KCS Ltd, right?

K. Mohan : You are right. I am working as General Manager (Administration). But why?

Satish : Uncle! Today when I went to the park, I observed that the company KCS Ltd. maintains the park and so also the charitable hospital in my village. Well, why should a company divert its attention from its regular activities and indulge in an activity which only increases its expense?

K. Mohan : Well, all these are taken up by the company as a part of it responsibility towards the community, and it is called Social Responsibility of a company.

Satish : Social Responsibility? What is that?

(Mr. K. Mohan explained to Satish about the concept of social responsibility of business.)

Now, you are required to continue the conversation by assuming a role for yourself and one for your friend.
